Sunday Selling Cases.

In the police court yesterday Jacob Wilhelm was fined the usual $20 and costs for selling liquor on Sunday. Two warrants were yesterday issued for William Handlan—one for selling on Sunday and one for selling without a license. It is alleged that Handlan opened up a new bar in his haymow for Sunday purposes.

Committed as a Lunatic.

Frank McClelland, a printer, late of Wellsburg, was committed to jail yesterday by Squire Phillips to await an inquest in lunacy. McClelland has been acting queerly for a good while, and on Sunday pointed a pistol at his wife. This seems to be a favorite amusement with him. The police were notified and locked him up, and yesterday he was taken before the justice and sent up.

The Team Owners' Union Acts.

There was a large and enthusiastic meeting of the Team Owners' Local Union last night, at which it was unanimously resolved to expel from membership all members hauling non-union coal. The meeting was addressed by members of the arbitration committee of the Trades Assembly and the Local Miners' Union's committee, and a determination was expressed to stand by union interests and uphold local interests against all unfair encroachments. Six new members were initiated, and a new scale for hauling was adopted for the ensuing term. William McKeown, sr., withdrew his membership from the union.

Transfers Recorded.

Clerk Hook yesterday admitted to record two deeds of trust and transfers as follows:
January 14 by W. W. Hamm and wife and others, to George Breiding, for $3,500, the south half of lot 225 in Chapline & Eoff's addition.
January 11 by Henry M. Russell, trustee, to George W. Hannan and others, for $9,050, part of lot 191, in Chapline & Eoff's addition.
October 16, by Charles Klein and wife and Louis F. Stifel to Lorenz Bieth, for $225, lot 29 and the south half of lot 28 in Klein & Stifel's addition.

Grand Concert To-night.

The Ovide Musin Concert Company which will give the fourth entertainment in the Young Men's Christian Association's excellent course of concerts is in all respects a strong musical organization. Critics claim that the music overshadows all other violinists who are heard on the concert stage. To hear him play one can almost believe that he is inspired by the very genius of his wonderful instrument. Annie Louise Tanner is called the phenomenal night-ingle. She uses a flexible voice of large compass to admirable advantage. The mezzo soprano, tenor, basso and pianist are all magnificent artists. The large audience that will greet this splendid combination of artists in the Opera House to-night will be well repaid. Seats are on sale at Baumer's music store.

"Lieber Franz" Coming.

Commencing Thursday, the German dialect comedian, John R. Cumpson, will appear at the Grand. Mr. Cumpson comes highly recommended from the east, where he has been playing to large audiences. The following is from the Brooklyn Times: John R. Cumpson, singing comedian, appeared at the Standard theatre before a large audience in the new comedy drama, "Lieber Franz." The play affords the star ample opportunity. He sings sweetly, and has a charming stage appearance. The Cumbler song was very catchy, and won for him long and continued applause. Miss Keins sang several songs in a very pleasing manner. The Murray Twin Sisters, two clever children, entertained the audience with specialties. These two children are six years old, and are certainly wonders. Seats are on sale at Genter's.

The Kind of a Man He Is.

Jedideah Prouty, the noted keeper of an inn at Bucksport, Maine, who died there in 1873, and "Old Jed Prouty" in the forthcoming play, are one and the same. Mr. Prouty is chronicled as having been a Yankee of uncommon horse sense, as well as a fellow of infinite jest. He is now to be held up by Richard Golden, his dramatic Bosworth, as a model down-east Yankee, of whom New Englanders may be proud. The prevailing idiotic type of Yankee is expected to give place to the approaching one of the Prouty brand and Buck sport vintage.

Walliek's "Bandit King."

J. H. Walliek and his company appeared before a large audience at the Grand last night, in his own drama of "The Bandit King." The play is the best of the kind seen here for a long time, and the scenery was something extraordinary. Mr. Walliek is a clear and forcible actor, and his support was good. The wonderful acting horses took the audience by storm. This company appears again this evening in "The Bandit King," and to-morrow afternoon and evening will present the new drama called "The Mountain King." Good business is assured for this company at each performance. Seats at Genter's.

PROPOSED COMBINE

Of three Leading Iron and Steel Works of the City

YET DISCUSSED WITH INTEREST.

Some indications that it is about to be effected—rumors about the details of the plan, and the advantages it would give the three concerns.

The proposition to combine the Benwood, Belmont and Top mill into one corporation, which has been much talked about, and of which the INTELLIGENCER has printed some account, is still a subject of good deal of talk, and most of the reports persist in mixing the LaBelle mill in the matter. One of the officials of one of the three companies told an INTELLIGENCER reporter yesterday, however, that the LaBelle had not at any time been in the proposed combine, and that what the INTELLIGENCER said on this subject some time ago was strictly correct. So far the combination of interests has not been effected, but there is at least a possibility that it will be when the three companies hold their annual meetings of stockholders next week. There is indeed reason to believe that these meetings will consider and decide the question of a joining of interests.

A gentleman who is slightly interested in the plan, and who evidently approved it, told a reporter yesterday that if the combination was made it would make one of the strongest corporations in the iron and steel business in the Ohio Valley. The three mills now own the Wheeling steel plant jointly. The mills would be so managed as not to in any way interfere with the business of one another. The Benwood could manufacture muck iron exclusively, the Top mill sheet iron and the Belmont nails. For some reason the last named mill seems to be generally regarded as having the call on nails anyhow. It has been extensively repaired lately, which looks as if there were at least no intention of abandoning the manufacture of cut nails at that factory, whatever the other factories do. The Benwood mill boiling furnaces started up in full on double turn yesterday. The fact that some of the striking boilers at the Belmont mill were refused employment at the Benwood gave the reported consolidation great strength in the eyes of many of the employees of the mill, but probably the fact had no bearing on that or any other plan for the future.

IN THE CIRCUIT COURT.

Business Transacted in Judge Paull's Court at Yesterday's Session.

In the circuit court yesterday the appeal case of the City vs. Peter Tribul, from the police court, where Tribul was fined, was submitted to the court without a jury, and Tribul was pronounced not guilty, and the judgment of the police court was reversed and the case dismissed at the city's costs.

The case of Ellsworth Eikey's administrator vs. the Wheeling Railway Company was continued at the plaintiff's cost, on account of the absence of a material witness.

The appeal case of W. D. Chambers, guardian of Agnes P. Carter, nee Post, vs. Henry Helfenbine, was called, and the defendant not responding judgment was entered in favor of the plaintiff for $46 and the costs.

In the case of the Wheeling Bridge and Terminal Company vs. Elizabeth Emblen and Isaiah Warren, decrees were entered vesting the title in the company, the amounts awarded by the juries respectively having been paid into the court.

The case of Giesey vs. Thomas Higgs, on appeal, was put on trial to a jury.

WHEELING & CONNELLSVILLE.

Surveyors Still on the Route—The Pennsylvania Lines Reached.

The Waynesburg Democrat says: "It is quite evident that the surveyors have been at work on the proposed line between Elm Grove, in West Virginia, and the Pennsylvania line. This much has been proven by statements in various Wheeling papers made at different times, and from the assertions of Wheeling men and others who have seen the men at work and conversed with them. Many newspaper readers are misled by accepting mere rumors and opinions as established facts. The facts, as far as they are known, are that a company has been formed, a survey is being made with the intention and expectation of building a road. The route may be defined in the minds of its projectors, but they have not given to the public this bit of important news. It may be, in spite of all assertions to the contrary, that a part of the route at least is still in doubt. From the best information that can be obtained the surveyors now at work have about reached the Pennsylvania line. They will soon be at work in this state. They seem to be making a very careful survey which indicate that so far as the portion they are now on is concerned they might adopt it as the route to be used."

ALMOST as palatable as cream, it can be taken with pleasure by delicate persons and children, who after using it, are very fond of it. It assimilates with the food, increases the flesh and appetite, builds up the nervous system, restores energy to mind and body, creates new, rich, and pure blood; in fact, rejuvenates the whole system. This preparation is far superior to all other preparations of Cod Liver Oil; it has many factors, but no equals. The results following its use are its best recommendations.
